Concluding message

The present findings form a basis to further study CB2-receptor as a target for treatment of lower urinary tract symptoms.

References