Welcome to Sweden!

We are pleased to invite you to the 49th Annual Meeting. The 11th ICS Annual Meeting was held in Lund in 1981 and it is our pleasure, after so many years, to welcome you back to Sweden.

Sweden has a long scientific tradition in continence research with many prominent scientists being active contributors to ICS since its founding. The conference venue is located in the heart of the City of Gothenburg, Sweden's second largest city, providing modern facilities combined with convenient access to excellent hotels and fine restaurants all with a guaranteed friendly reception.

About Gothenburg

Gothenburg on the west coast of Sweden has practically everything you expect to find in a larger city – yet within walking distance.

The city offers an open and relaxed atmosphere, plenty of parks and cultural sites, great places to eat, trendy shops and a unique archipelago. In September days are still long and light and many of the outdoor bars and restaurants are buzzing with people day and night.

If you have a few extra hours to spend, the archipelago with its picturesque car-free islands is just a short distance away. Visit www.goteborg.com for more inspiration.

Access

Gothenburg has an international airport and is accessible from many destinations. It's very easy to travel from the airport to the centre of Gothenburg where the convention centre is located.

Say "Yes to ICS", See you in Gothenburg
