Madrid is the best destination for those who wish to obtain excellent results by staging of any type of event.

The city hosts the head offices of 90% of the major companies that operate in Spain and is the third European city in terms of the presence of multinationals, which makes the capital a large global showcase for the presentation of products and a perfect setting for proposals. If we add to this more than 82.000 hotel beds in the city (42.822 rooms), two conference centres, two trade fair venues which are perfectly connected with the rest of the city, an airport that has recently doubled its capacity and an inexhaustible offer of culture and leisure, we can guarantee that Madrid is one of the main destinations for business travel and the holding of congresses.

Madrid is undoubtedly an opportunity and a safe bet to win from both scientific and society point of view.

In other hand urologists, gynecologists, surgeons, nurses, physical and rehabilitations and physical therapists involved in treatment of incontinence conform a growing high level scientific group in Spain with a great number of ICS member between us allowing to create a high end local committee and scientific contributions to the meeting to prepare the best ICS annual meeting for you
